Whereing Family Market.—Business is quite brisk just now in nearly all branches of the retail trade. Hucksters, grocers and butchers especially have no reason to complain just before the Glorious Fourth, when every patriotic citizen counts upon having something good to est, even if he does not celebrate in a more demonstrative way. The numerous celebrations and picnics on the national birthday require large supplies of choice estables, hence the demand is generally equal to the supply at this season of the year. Prices, however, continue rather moderate. Raspberries are plenty at 10c per box. There are still some fine strawberries left, at 124a 15c per box. Blackberries, the first of the season, bring 60c per bucket. Cherries are cheap, some of the best of the fruit being offered at 4a6c per quart. Apples are down to 30c per peck. Pineaples are quoted at 10a15c each, bananas at 5c each, oranges-at 60 and lemons at 40c per dozen. There is not much change in the vegetable line, the figures being about as follows: potatoes, 15a20c per peck; beans, 30c per peck; pens, 20c per peck; beans, 30c per peck; pens, 20c per peck; beans, 30c per peck; pens, 20c per peck; bans, 30c per peck; pens, 20c per peck; bunches for 5c. Butter is sold at 10a15c per pound, and eggs at 124c per dozen. Spring chickens, the sold at 10a15c per pound—other meats unchanged. There is no change in dried fruits, canued goods and fancy groceries. DES. MORRIS, JARRETT & COBURN, DENTISTS, Liquid Nitrous Oxide Gas used for the painles Extraction of Teeth. Goodrich's Depence.—The Supreme Court of Appeals, at its session yesterday, granted a writ of error in the case of Theodore F. Goodrich, convicted of bigamy at a recent term of the Circuit Court of Harrison county, and sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the pententiary. The ground upon which said writ was granted is interesting, if not curious. Goodrich was mainly convicted on the testimony of Fannie J. Smith, who swore that she was married to him in November, 1874, at Nielsville, Wis., and that in May, 1877, he married Clara Allen, at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, and brought her to Clarksburg, where he lived with her as her husband. During his trial Goodrich offered to prove a former marriage to one Sarah Snodgrass, in April, 1873, which, being unbroken at the time of his marriage to Fanny Smith, rendered the second marriage void abiatio. He forther claimed that he could show that when he married Clara Allen he had obtained a divorce from Sarah Snodgrass, and his marriage to Clara Allen was a legal one.

This testimony was excluded by the Court below, and on this account Goodrich was granted a writ of error by the Supreme Court.

LUTERIAN SYNOD.— Yesisrdoy's Proceedings.—The German Lutheran Synod of Ohio and adjoining States met yesterday morning, pursuant to adjournment of previous day.

A resolution was presented to the effect that the Synod call into existence a printing establishment. It was unanimously resolved that a committee other pastors and two delegates be appointed, and that this committee attend to this matter as soon as possible. The committee consists of Pastors J. A. Schulze, R. Herbat and M. Walter, and Delegates Guike and Schuster.—The committee is authorized to borrow money to begin this undertaking. FUNERAL OF JOHN T. FRIEMELL.—The inneral of young Frissell was largely attended yesterday, both at his father's thome here and at his grandfather's, Col. Thompson, on the Ohio side, opposite Moundaville. The religious services, conducted by Reve. Cunningham and Moffat (the singing by Mrs. Shelb), were very impressive. At 10 o'clock the procession moved to the steamer Courier at the wharf, the pall bearers walking on each side of the hearse. They were Messra, J. E. B. McDonald, Alex. Updegraff, Charley Franzheim, John R. Davenport, John Moffat, James Dickey, James Cummins and John Birch. Quite a number of intimate friends went down to Moundaville with the family, among them Dr. J. O. daughter. Dr. Hildreth and wife, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Vance, Miss Mollie Hearne and others. These were met at Col. Thompson's landing by a large number of people from Moundaville, who walked in procession to the house, where further services were held, and the glass lid of the coffin removed. Young Frissell was a great favorite at Moundaville, especially among the people connected with the rolling mill, whose efficient, and faithful and successful officer he had been. Many beautiful floral tributes were brought to the grave. The grave itself was most tastefully and affectionately prepared for the remains. It was boarded all the way up and trimmed with evergreens. The "rough box" was solid walnut, on the lids of which were placed many flowers before the earth was thrown in. After that twigs and branches of evergreen were thrown in until the lid was thickly covered. The deepest sympathy was exhibited by many persons present, and after the grave had been filled several persons remained to devote themselves to its decoration. All that could be done by kind friends to assuage the heavy blow of affliction was willingly done. Alasi how little can be done under such circumstances. Affliction is the lot of all.

The proposed changes in the institutions were then taken up and discussed with good earnestness. It was acknowledged on all sides that the institutions have not furnished as thorough an education, particularly in the languages, as might be desired. Just where the fault lays was the subject of considerable debate. It seems evident that the teaching force has been too weak to do more. Prof. Frank was added to the faculty at the beginning of this year; more time is allotted to the different branches, and things are said to have improved materi. the beginning of this year, more time allotted to the different branches, and things are said to have improved materially. It seemed evident that there should be another Professor added to the faculty. German and English may stand on an equal footing in these institutions, and the aim of the faculty is to enable all her students to make use of both languages. That their efforts have not been in valin is evident from the fact that nearly one-half of the ministers of this Synod are able to preach in both languages. It was also remarked on the floor of the Synod are able to preach in both languages. It was also remarked on the floor of the Synod attended that others besides those who intend studying Theology are admitted into the college of the Synod.

In view of the proposed changes in the course of studies it was finally resolved that the faculty be commissioned to revise the existing course of studies lot of all.
